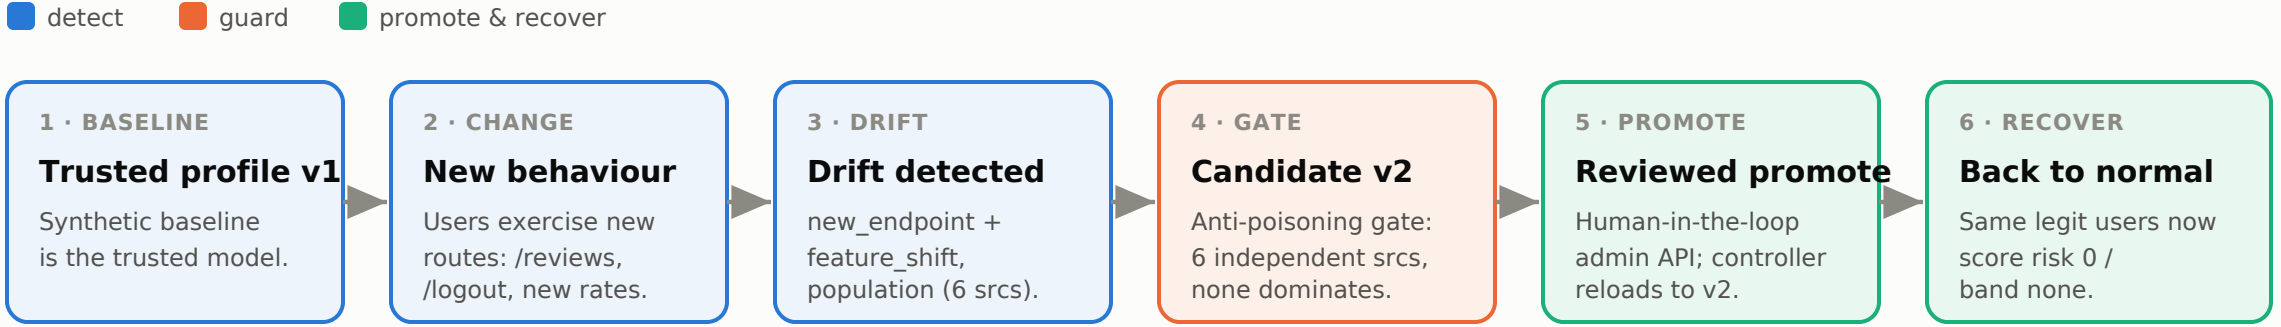
Real adaptation lifecycle — legitimate drift becomes controlled learning (Scenario C)

Observed live on genuine lab traffic: no attacker could define “normal,” and promotion stayed human-in-the-loop.



Attacker traffic cannot define “normal”: the gate requires multiple independent sources (source-share cap) and limits sensitive-feature movement, and every promotion is reviewed.